To Whom It May Concern,

I am firmly opposed to the creation of any new nuclear fission power plants in the state of New York. We cannot shunt the responsibility of dealing with any more spent fuel rods onto future generations, and we cannot risk the health and safety of New Yorkers in the event of a catastrophe at a plant. Nearly all forms of renewable energy are cheaper, faster, and safer to build than nuclear energy, with less overall environmental impact. New York State should learn from past generations and stop pursuing this dangerous and expensive energy strategy.

Sincerely,
Minerva Archer
